

The Irish Times, 6th November 2003, Eating Out by Hugo Arnold

“Beach walking must be one of the joys of the winter, salt spray on the lips, roaring waves and the thought of something delicious to justify the hard slog. At Gorman’s Clifftop House and Restaurant not only do you get locally-sourced food, but there is no great distance to go before sliding into bed. If the night is clear you’ll have views out to the Three Sisters and all that Atlantic too.”
